CLAIMANTS FOR BARON'S MILLIONS

A Number of the Surviving Members of Mosby's Command Have Been Located.

Some time ago there was a story published to the effect that Baron von Massow, new commanding a corps of cavairy in the German arms, would have distributed among his surviving comrades of Mosby's command his fortune, estimated at $2,000,000. This story was much laughed at then, but it now looks that instead of fiction, it may be the truth.

laughed at then, but it now looks that instead of fiction, it may be the truth.

General von Massow is well remembered by several Richmond gentlemen, who served with him in Mesby's command. Captain W. Ben. Palmer, who fought alongside of Massow, who was then a licutenant under Mosby, tells some interesting stories of the brave foreigner who came over to see active service, and was badly wounded while fighting for the Confederacy.

When the story was first published When the story was first published that Earon von Massow, who is now very rich, would leave his fortune to the surviving members of Mosby's command there were doubts as to whether or not this was true, and some of Mosby's men now living in Virginia offered to sell out their prospects for $1. Indeed, two or three deals along this line were made.

It appears that a letter requesting information about certain members of Mosby's command has been written, at the suggestion of Baron von Massow, by an American lady who married a German count, to Major Holmes Conrad, of Winchester, Va., and a former member of Mosby's command. The letter explicitly states the names of families whose whereabouts are wanted. THOSE WANTED.

According to the Washington Post of esterday, the following extracts are taken from the letter:

"Do the following people live and can you give their addresses?
"I. Colonel John S. Mosby. "1. Colonel John S. Mosoy.
"2. William Chapman, who was an officer in the same corps. A family named Carter, who lived at Glen Welby, near Rectortown; and had a daughter named Sophie, who married a Carter.

"4. A family of Scotts, who lived at Oakwood, in Fauguter or Loudoun county. There was a Miss Susan Morton Scott and a brother, John Scott, who wrote a book, "Partisan Life with Mosby." There was also an aunt, a Mrs. Lee.

"5. Mr. John Jeffries, who before the war lost an arm in a machine and had a farm near Rectortown or Salem.

"6. Mr. Dick Buckner, who also had a farm in the neighborhood, and was a fine musician and who had a beautiful sister. "7. In a fight near Dranesville or Augers' shop, Baron Massow was severely wounded, on February 22, 1864, and was nursed in the house of a farmer near the road, whose daughters hid him from the

March Winds

The winds of March are the last gasps of a dying Winter.

They breathe the breath of death.

Who does not know some sad story brought to a fatal ending by the uncertain winds of March? Women are so susceptible to weather changes. All Winter they protect themselves, but with the first indication of Spring they lose caution and take a sudden cold. Latent weakness is developed into acute attack by such a cold, and a hard struggle for health follows. Many times the fight is unsuccessful and the evil effects endure for years.

Many women do not know how weak they are until a March wind finds them unprepared. This is a treacherous month. Don't take chances. Dr. Greene's great medicine will guard you against sudden exposure by building up the entire system. It fortifies the weak points in the armor and turns weakness into strength. New life is taken in with every breath. Every pulsation of the blood is health-giving. All the action of the nervous system is strengthened and brought into control by healthy, well circulated blood. Health shows itself in the quickened step, the clear eye and the active brain nervous, with a bad feeling in my head and at the base of Mrs. H. H. WAKEFIELD, my brain, extending down the back of my neck. I was thin in flesh, and pale, weak and tired, and unable to sleep nights. I had a terrible deathly feeling which I should describe as a falling of Montpelier, Vermont,

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA

A practical instance of the curative power of Dr. Greene's Nervura is that of Mrs. William Fish, of So. Montrose, Pa., who writes the following letter:

"I have read so many testimonials that I feel as if I wanted some one to read mine in regard to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I have had netvous trouble for over two years; it came upon me suddenly, without warning. In the night I awoke and found myself getting helpless after doing all my family could. I finally was myself again, but the effects lasted me the whole of the next day. I was so weak I could hardly walk; that was only the beginning; more followed, sometimes twoor three spells in one night, and night after night not a wink of sleep did I get.

"I employed one doctor, then another, until I had tried three. Well, I got some relief, as long as my medicine lasted, but no cure. I was discouraged and took my case in my own hands. "I have read so many testimonials that I feel as if I wanted some one to read mine case in my own hands, saying nothing to anyone, and began using Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

I am on the third bottle of Nervura and have not been so well in years as I am at the present time. Be-sides helping my nervous system, I have received helpin abundance for other troubles I had for several years, weaknesses, etc. I can now sleep from the time I go to bed until morn-

GREAT COMMAND. The letter concludes as follows: "With your wonderful memory and large ac-quaintance, perhaps you have known some of these people, or could find out if they still live. Baron Massow is now one of the highest commanding generals in the German army."

In the body of the letter the countess mentioned "that she thought the reason the baron wished the addresses was to do something for these people whom he had known during the war." The report that the baron wished the addresses grew in repetition until the sum that he was credited with being desirous of bestowing upon his old comrades reached $2,000,000, and the number of the survivors of Mosby's command gradually grew until they were thousands strong and outnumbered the original rosters sev eral times over. Colonel Mosby said last night that he knew nothing further about the matter than the letter stated, and that he had no idea why the baron desired the ad-dresses of the people named in the letter. Baron Massow, he said, served in his command, and he had heard nothing from him since the war, although he understood he was a rich man, and at one time was court chamberlain to the
